Arrival of the Steamer Sardonyx --The Special Constables Return.

Everything Quiet--The Battery to Return on the Fly --Full Particulars.

The Sardonyx arrived from the north this morning bringing among her passengers Supt. Roycraft and the Government specials who had proceeded to Hazleton to suppress the reported rebellion. The news from the "seat of war" is of a pacific if not a dry character. Beyond the killing of Kit-wan-cool Jim and two or three Indians in their feuds among themselves nothing has taken place to justify the public alarm which has been created over it. Supt. Roycraft on his arrival was seen by a reporter and was found to be none the worse of the campaign. He has the same well favored appearance as before and like his specials seems to have utilized the time in taking on considerable of the adipose tissue. All the "boys" say they had a hard time though appearances indicate they have had a picnic. The superintendent being requested to furnish the TIMES with some news concerning the trip excused himself on the ground that he had to report to the Attorney-General's office, but directed the scribe to Special Flewin and one or two others.

Special Officer Docherty who was seen, informed the reporter that it had taken ten days to reach Hazleton from Essington. The river was very rapid in some places. At Kitzelass canyon everything in the canoes had to be packed and the canoes drawn through empty. Here, if the Indians were really hostile and determined to fight it would be impossible to get past. On reaching Hazleton everything was quiet, the inhabitants of the villages being away fishing and hunting or having left on the approach of the specials. The party remained in Hazleton for eight days, during which time a preliminary hearing of Green's case was held before Mr. Fitzstubbs, S. M., and an inquest by Coroner Roycraft over the body of the Indian Tobusk, already reported as murdered by another chieftain. Six of the specials were discharged in order that they might be sworn in as jurymen. The body of the dead Indian was exhumed and the evidence taken down and a verdict of "justifiable homicide" rendered. It was shown in the evidence that Tobusk had been shot by the other chief in self-defence there being seven bullet holes in the door of the latter's house.

The day before the party left Superintendent Roycraft sent for all the chiefs and held a pow-wow with them. Twelve came and each gave his assurance that they would do their best to keep order in their villages in future. They spoke in their own language, Mrs. Hankin acting as interpreter. It was thought from the manner in which the chiefs spoke that no trouble need be anticipated in the future, at least for some time. Constables Homans and Parker, who went up with Roycraft's party, remained at Hazleton, and the other constables came down. Washburn was discharged a day or two after the the posse arrived. He is at Hazleton now but will not remain there as there is a good deal of feeling against him. Green was brought down but none of the witnesses came.

Fitzstubbs came down as far as Lorne Creek and went in there.

The trip down the river occupied two days. Fine weather was experienced during the whole trip, excepting one night when the rain poured down in torrents.

On August 7th the preliminary trial of Daniel Franklin Green, charged with killing Kit-wan-cool Jim, took place at Hazleton before Mr. N. Fitzstubbs, stipendiary magistrate. Mrs. Margaret Hankin acted as interpreter. The evidence of Constables Homans, Chas. Ridley, who is in charge of the mission school, and two or three Indians was taken and is published below. At the conclusion of the evidence, it having been read over to Green he was asked if he had anything to say, to which he replied "nothing." He was then committed for trial being admitted to bail in the sum of $1000, his own recognizance being accepted in the sum of $500 and W. D. Clifford and John Flewin in the sum of $250 each. Green will be tried at the Nanaimo assizes in November.

The following evidence was taken before Stipendiay Magistrate Fitzstubbs:

The information against Green was laid by a Kit-wan-cool Indian named Snow.

Snow testified—I met Jim on the trail first. I was asleep very early in the morning at Kitwangar, and I woke and heard knocking at the door. I was told twice to open the door and then I opened it. I hesitated at first to open the door and Jim told me to open it and I opened. An Indian called Nees-cum-a-lar came in first and then Homans and Green, the constables. They stood one on each side of Jim. Then the constables got at one side of the house and Jim at the other. Jim had his blanket on and a pistol in his hand. Jim told her to come on. He then spoke in his own tongue and was very cheeky and asked them, "What do you want?" Jim then made a spring for the door and ran, followed by the constables. I heard five shots fired and the constables called twice to Jim to stop. They then got into the brush and I knew no more. It was dark in the house when the constables came, but light outside. I knew the constables were near and so did Jim. He said he thought he would give himself up. Jim held his pistol in a threatening way and spoke in a very threatening manner to the constables. After I heard the shots saw Green and Homans carrying Jim back to the house. He was shot between the shoulders. Jim said, "I was just about to stand when shot." The officers were after him because he was a murderer. The pistol produced is the one Jim had.

The Kitwangar Indian who was with the constable when Jim was shot, testified that he saw him the day he arrived at the village. He said to witness, "I have come because the constables are here, but am not going to allow them to see me. After Jim had sent a messenger to the constables his courage failed him and he said he would go back to Kit-wan-cool. When the constables came he was gone. Homans, Green and myself, determined to have him at all hazards. We went at the break of day. We went to the central house in the lower row. Homans called out to them two or three times to open the door and I knocked twice. They answered very cheekily from inside. I knocked harder than ever and Snow answered. I recognized his voice. I spoke to him and he opened the door. Snow turned around to Jim and said, "Here comes the constables." We then went into the house, myself first, then Homans, then Green. Jim had just got out of bed. He stood in a very threatening attitude with his pistol in his hand and said, "Well, go ahead." He then sprang for the door, shouting, "What do you want?" He was no sooner to the door than he was followed by Green. I then heard shots and Homans shouting to Jim to stop. Jim zig-zagged around amongst the houses before he reached the wood. Green followed him around all the houses firing pistol shots. When they disappeared around the last house I heard a rifle shot. It must have been Green who shot him. Homans was the first to come upon Jim after he was shot, then Green. They tried to get him to sit up but he couldn't. The revolver produced is Jim's property. Green had on a police cap. I was present when Jim died. He died in the canoe on the way to the mission.

Chas. Ridley testified that he teaches at the mission house at Kit-man-gar. Homans told me to tell Jim to come and give himself up to him. Jim took a letter out of his pocket and said, "I want you to write an answer to this." We advised him to answer it in person and give himself up. The chiefs all advised him when we got to the village to give himself up. He wanted to know where the police would take him. I told him to the Forks. He then flatly refused to give himself up. Jim said 'The more I think over the matter the more I mistrust the constables, and I flatly refuse to give myself up." He asked the chiefs if they would assist him in case the constables tried to arrest him. The head chief told him they would not assist any murderer. Jim told me to tell the constables that he had come to the village with the intention of giving himself up but that he had changed his mind and they had better go back to the salt water. I ordered the constables away from my place telling them they were murderers.

James Homas—Iam a special constable; I was appointed to come up here to arrest Kit-wan-cool Jim. On the morning of the 19th June myself and constable Green endeavored to arrest Jim; last witness, an Indian, was with us. I had a warrant for Jim's arrest. I produced the warrant; sent a message to Jim to give himself up; the messenger came back and said Jim sent word that he would not give himself up but that we had better return to the salt water; Green was present when the messenger left and also when he returned; Green, Parker and myself went down that evening but could not find him; we left the Mission again about midnight and went to the village to the house where Jim was staying. The Indian who was with us knocked at the door twice; after some delay the door was opened and he went in; we walked about two-thirds of the way up the house; a number of Indians were standing up; I did not know Kit-wan-cool Jim; an Indian asked me very cheekily what we wanted; I looked towards our own Indian to know which was Jim. He nodded towards the man who spoke and I noticed Jim had a pistol. The pistol produced is the one Jim had in his hand. I then turned to Jim and said, "Is that you, Jim?" He replied 'nawitka,' at the same time throwing off his blanket and covering me with his pistol. He then ran for the door. I called out to him to stop two or three times as he was running; when he got outside the door I fired a warning shot at him and told him to stop again. Just at this time Green passed me and ran after Jim around the house. He fired four warning shots from his revolver and called to him to stop; Jim still kept on and Green fired one shot from his rifle; Jim ran up the hill after he was fired at; I passed Green on my way up the hill and asked him if he had hit him. He said he did not know; I shortly afterwards found Jim lying at the back of a house. He was shot in the small of the back the bullet coming out at the lower part of the right breast. We then picked him up and carried him to the Indian house from which he had run. The distance from where he fell would be about 90 yds. Green had on his cap when he went into the house; I found the revolver lying under him close to his right hand. It had four chambers loaded and one discharged. When I found Jim, the Indians whom I had employed came up and spoke to Jim in their own tongue. I don't know what he said. Kit-wan-cool Jim looked up at our Indian and said, "you son-of-a-b, it was you who gave me away." He died in the canoe on the way from Kitmungas to the Mission. The bullet that struck him went right through him entering the back and coming out in front at the lower part of the right breast. I saw him running very fast when Green was after him. Jim must have heard me call to him to stop as he was only five or six feet away from me, but he took no notice.

THE IMMENSE CIRCUS.

Two Large Steamers Arrive With the Show--Street Parade.

Early this morning the steamers Alaskan and Emma Hayward arrived with Sells' immense circus. A large army of men immediately commenced discharging canvas, chariots, horses, elephants, camels and a menagerie of wild animals. Every large conveyance in the city was brought into service to carry the tents, seats, etc., to the large open space at the junction of Government and Douglas streets. A large tent was immediately put up with two large rings in which an imposing spectacular entree will be made at 8:30 o'clock to-night.

Amongst the many novelties and marvellous exhibitions connected with the circus may be mentioned Capt. Bogardus and sons, champion shots of the world; pony races, four horse Roman chariot races, the only pair of Hippopotami in the world, elephants and camels, performing horses, gladiators, twenty-three horses driven by one man, tight rope walkers, and numerous other performers of a variety and excellence which will astonish the natives. The circus will give three exhibitions in this city.

At 8 o'clock they formed a very interesting spectacle. It passed through Government and other principal streets, and was witnessed by a large number of people who turned out to see it. The ponderous elephant was the great attraction for the small boy. This evening's performance will commence at 8 o'clock, doors open at 7. General admission $1.10 and 50 cents extra for reserved seats.

CABLE NEWS.

THE SUIT AGAINST THE TIMES.

London, Aug. 14—Mr. Parnell's summons against the Times will be called at Edinburgh on September 13th, when the parties to the action must appear. The trial will begin in November at the earliest, and possibly it may not take place till after the Christmas recess of court, if either side to the case should exercise the right to take the case to the inner court, where the Lord President and a jury would try the action.

The Pall Mall Gazette's condemnation of Parnell's manœuvres in resorting to the Scotch courts, wherein to prosecute his suit against the Times, has excited much comment since it puts an entirely new phase upon the matter and ascribes to Parnell entirely different motives from those with which he has been credited.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "Mr. Parnell's trick seems to please his supporters and has disquieted his foes, but it resembles playing fast and loose, and we doubt whether it will do its contrivers any good. If Parnell has discovered the forger who planned the letters published by the Times, then it is no trick, but the execution of a trick long avowed, but his admirers' ground for applause is on the trick which will bedevil the commission of inquiry. Is this Mr. Parnell's object? It is a false move and Parnell has changed front in face of the enemy, which is dangerous. The tardy adoption of the course which he refused to take when it would have been useful to his English allies will not be understood. The Commission will proceed with its work and Parnell cannot arrest it. If he refuses to testify before it he will harm nobody so much as himself. As Parnell's case stands he has no motive to hold his tongue, but to challenge inquiry."

London, Aug. 15—Sir Jas. Hannel, Sir John Day and Sir, Archibald Smith who compose the commission appointed to investigate the charges against Parnell and other members of parliament have decided to open on Oct. 16th. They have notified Mr. George Lewis, solicitor for the Parnellites, and Mr. George Seames, solicitor for the Times, that all intermediary applications must be made before Sept. 17.

London, Aug. 15—It is rumored that action brought by Mr. Parnell against the Times in the Scotch courts may collapse on a technicality. It is said the Times' counsel will assert that as the Times neither owns property nor resides in Scotland the Scotch courts have no jurisdiction.

ACTION AGAINST THE TIMES.

London, Aug. 13—The Star to-day says J. P. O'Connor and John Redmond have entered actions for libel against the Times at the English court of Queen's Bench.

MUTUAL ADMIRATION.

Berlin, Aug. 14—The review of troops yesterday for the King of Portugal was a brilliant affair. A dinner was afterwards given in the castle at which one hundred covers were laid. Several princes and army generals were present. The Emperor in toasting the King of Portugal referred to the cordiality existing between the two nations, and the pleasure of seeing the dear friend of his father and grandfather. The King of Portugal, in kindly response, said he hoped that the Emperor William would also cherish friendly relations with Portugal.

ITALIAN OFFICERS KILLED.

Rome, Aug. 14—A Massowah dispatch says: A French Missionary who arrived from the scene of the massacre at Sogeti reports that four Italian officers who were in command of the auxiliary troops were killed. He does not know the fate of the fifth. He says that Debeb, the Abyssinian chief whose troops overcame the Indian command, had a force of 750 men of whom 650 were armed with muskets. Four hundred stragglers from the defeated column have arrived at Massowah.

PARNELL'S SUIT.

London, Aug. 15—Parnell's summons against the Times will be called in Edinburgh on September 15th, when the parties to the action must appear or an order will then be issued to lodge defences, which will be due October 16th. Issues may be placed before court for adjustment on October 23rd and the trial will not begin before November at the earliest.

London, Aug. 15.—Eight thousand more operatives at the mills at Blackburn have joined the 2,000 strikers already out. The strike is now general.

TURKISH AFFAIRS.

Constantinople, Aug. 15—A crisis has occurred here in cabinet circles. The Sultan has refused to sanction the plan of Kramel Pasha, Grand Vizier, to borrow $1,500,000 from Turkish banks, which money the members of war and marine demand for the purpose of obtaining good soldiers and seamen for the army and navy. The wages of men in both branches of the service have long been unpaid, and their condition is complained of by the ministers. It is rumored that on account of the Sultan's refusal a change will occur in the cabinet and that Saud Pasha, minister of foreign affairs, will succeed Kramel Pasha. Gadban Pasha has been sent as a special envoy to London on a secret mission.

FOREIGN CAPTAINS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—Please to inform me if there is a law in Canada which allows a foreigner to take command of a Canadian or British vessel. Some of my friends say that there is, and others say that there is not, because they cannot believe that Mr. Dunsmuir would act contrary to the law in giving his steamer Wellington to an American. Your opinion on this question will oblige. NANAIMO.

The Acts 46 Vic., 28 chap., and 33 Vic., 17 chap., are very plain, and protect the interests of our seamen. No foreigner is allowed to clear a Canadian or British vessel at any custom house here. All masters and mates must have either Imperial or Canadian certificates of competency or service. The penalties of this Act are heavy, being not less than $100 for an offense, and $100 for every day so offending as the case may be.

THE MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES OF VICTORIA.

In yesterday's issue of THE TIMES we concluded our report on the manufacturing industries of the City of Victoria, which has been published in our columns for the past three weeks. In revising the report, given by men well versed in manufacturing industries, their economy and general workings, very hopeful conclusions may be drawn as to the future of the city as a manufacturing center. Geographical position on the Pacific sea board, easy access to the supply of raw material, and the fuel so necessary to create a motive power to run machinery, gives to the City of Victoria a position unrivalled. The inexhaustible supply of coal, iron and other materials, and the unbounded extent of our dense forests, offers raw material for industries innumerable, and lucrative inducements for the investment of capital. Therefore the iron and timber industries, as yet in their infancy, present a wide field for development. The success of the former industry, heretofore protected by the National Policy tariff against the products of the neighboring Union, and now by the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway thrown open to the competition of the cheap labor and the more extensive workshops of the eastern portion of the Dominion, depends, it is true, largely on the all-absorbing problem of labor, but still more on a more extensive market. This affects also other branches of industry, particularly the cigar and boot and shoe manufactories at present established. In the products of iron and wood, we ought to be enabled to more than compete with our eastern rivals; all points are accessible, or nearly so, by water, for transportation of the raw material, and why not have factories established here for the manufacture of mowing machines, self-binders, threshing machinery, iron harrows, spades, shovels, forks, waggons, buggies, etc., and such like implements as may be required by the farmers of the western plains? Here at our very door is offered for such manufactories an ever-increasing market, a market whose demand will be increasing, sure and certain, we receiving in return the crop of golden grain for our bread, the wool for our cloth, fibers for our cordage, besides many other mutual advantages.

We find that many manufactories can be easily carried on here even under present circumstances, with profit, and few there are that are not paying. Manufacturers heretofore highly protected and with an undisputed market, find it rather hard to come down from high to low profits. That prices as demanded on the Pacific coast must, and will come down, no one for a moment doubts. The law of supply and demand will regulate that; it is a very simple problem of political economy. White labor would rid us of that incubus, the Chinese. With markets at real staple value our population would increase, so would our factories and all branches of business in proportion. Capital, the all powerful, is necessary for the development of any industry. There are many profitable schemes in which it could be advantageously employed. In the manufacture of organs and pianos there lies a mine of wealth for the capitalist who ventures in the undertaking. The nucleus and experience is here; all it needs to win the race against competition is capital. There is also room for an extensive sawmill, either in the city or suburbs. Many industries are divided up amongst so many that they are less profitable than if consolidated. To attain excellence and produce profitably, there must be economy of labor. This means the carrying on of manufactories on an extended scale with all modern appliances and conveniences. The number of breweries would well bear a reduction. In this line of manufacture, at all events for the present, the chief ingredients of the raw material, barley and malt, will have to be imported, and beer to attain excellence and cheapness requires to be produced on a large scale. Our hops and water are found to be unequalled for brewing purposes, and with the best barley-growing country on the continent, the northwest, on our borders there is no reason why our breweries could not turn out an article of beer as cheap and of as good a quality as the eastern article, especially the strong ales. There are large quantities, the product of London and Montreal breweries, imported; there is no doubt but that this could be easily competed with.

The establishment of a sugar refinery and an iron smelting works were spoken of some time ago. Both industries would employ large capital and give employment to hundreds, yes, and even thousands. Victoria's position gives her great advantage regarding the former. The proximity of the Hawaiian islands and Fiji's for furnishing the raw sugar ought to ensure its success. Nature has provided all the requisites for the latter, and the smoke of many blast furnaces, and the attendant noise of many kindred factories of iron, should ere long be seen and felt amidst the vigorous throb of our busy life. The natural resources of the surrounding country only await awakening from the long sleep of nature by the powerful agents of capital and labor.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

The resolution respecting temporary certificates introduced at the School Board meeting last evening by Trustee Heisterman might well have passed. The fact that it did not suggests the idea of politicians at the Board, the presence of people whose over-sensitiveness on behalf of the Government materially interferes with their public usefulness. The plea of inconsistency was not sufficient reason for voting down a resolution which, however far from perfection, was conceived in the public interest. It would not have reflected on the present board to have pursued a course in opposition to the late one; they are totally different bodies. The new is in no way responsible for the acts of the old. Mr. HEISTERMAN in taking a step to publicly recommend that the present unjust law regarding temporary certificates be changed, was doing what was eminently right and proper and should have received the unanimous support of the board.

DEATH OF CHARLES CROCKER

A dispatch announcing the death of Charles Crocker, at Monterey, Cal., was received last night. His death was the remote result of injuries received by being thrown from a buggy in New York about two years ago. Since that time he has taken a less active interest in his extensive business affairs, and a few years ago retired from active participation in railroad management, to Monterey, in the hope of improving his condition. Mr. Crocker was one of the early pioneers of California, and possessed the confidence and respect of all those who knew him intimately. He acquired great wealth, and in railroad enterprises especially was a power in the State. As a partner with Mr. DUNSMUIR in the construction of the E. & N. Railway and also as an associate with that gentleman in the development of the coal mines of Comox, he had large interests in this province. His old associates in business were naturally very greatly shocked upon hearing of his death.

MISSIONARY TRADERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR:—Permit me in a few words to reply to a letter that appeared in the Colonist some time ago over the name "Justice." "Justice" made a severe attack on the Rev. A. S. Green, of the Nass River Methodist Mission, among other things charging him with dishonestly receiving a salary for mission work whilst he was engaged in commercial pursuits. The chairman of Mr. Green's district, the general secretary of the Methodist Missionary Society, knew that Mr. G. was engaged in trade, and why, and his salary was paid him with the full understanding of what he was about.

"Justice," it seems to me, was anxious to impress on the public the idea that the Methodist Missionaries on the north west coast of British Columbia were a set of British traders having only their own ends to serve, regardless of the word and spiritual welfare of their people. When a man takes for his pseudonym "Justice," it is inferred that he will treat the subject under his consideration with utmost partiality. After "Justice" had written his letter, he must have said to himself, being a just man: "This letter does not fairly represent the real state of affairs on the N. W. C. as to who are missionary traders and who are not; but my statement of the case will answer my purpose to give a blow to Methodism in the Port Simpson District. Of course it is not the kind of justice I would have meted out to myself, but then no quarter must be given to schism. After he had seen his letter in print and how he had tried to mislead the public, his conscience must have greatly troubled him; for "Justice" is not lost to all sense or right, he is only a little warped. Who have been and are the trading missionaries on the N. W. coast. Speaking of clergymen only, on the Methodist side, the Rev. A. S. Green was the only man engaged in trade.

On the Church of England side:

1st. The Rev. Chas. Harrison, of Massett, was a trader in opposition to the H. B. Co. for several years. What excuse could Mr. H have for trading when there was such a well stocked store so near by?

2nd. The Rev. W H. Collison, it is said, applied for a traders' license.

3rd. The Rev. A. J. Hall, of Alert Bay, is both a trader and lumber merchant. Yet there is a good store close by.

Last, but not least, the Right Rev. Wm. Ridley, D. D., Bishop of Caledonia, had a trade store at Metlakahtla. The Bishop, however, did not take out a license in his own name, but in that of an Indian boy without capital or the knowledge of trade. I remember well the complaints made by honest men in the regular trade concerning the management of the "Bishop's store." They said: It is not fair to us who get our living by trade to have to compete with a man who sells at cost and has a large salary to support himself apart from his trading.

"Justice's" justice will not commend itself to impartial minds; nor will it be believed that the Methodists are engaged in the noble cause of missions for the mere advantages of mercantile life. It can be easily shown from "Justice's" letter that Victoria, as well as other parts of Canada, is indebted to Methodist missionary enterprise. Hoping you will give this letter a place in your valuable paper, I am very truly yours,

D. JENNINGS.

AYER'S Hair Vigor has given me perfect satisfaction. I was nearly bald for six years, during which time I used many hair preparations, but without success. Indeed, what little hair I had was growing thinner, until I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. I used two bottles of the Vigor, and my head is now covered with a new growth of hair. —Judson B. Chapel, Peabody, Mass.

HAIR that has become weak, gray, and failed, may have new life and color restored to it by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "My hair was thin, faded, and dry, and fell out in large quantities. VIGOR, youth, and beauty, in the appearance of the hair, may be preserved for an indefinite period by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "A disease of the scalp caused my hair to become harsh and dry, and to fall out freely. Nothing I tried seemed to do me any good until I commenced using Ayer's Hair Vigor. Three bottles of this preparation restored my hair to a healthy condition, and it is now soft and pliant. My scalp is cured, and it is also free from dandruff.—Mrs. E. R. Foss, Milwaukee, Wis.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

Temporary Certificates Condemned but the Board Does Not Like to Interfere.

The Board of School trustees met in the City Hall last evening. Present: Messrs. Hayward, in the chair, Wolfenden, Heisterman, Ferguson and Morrison.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the principal of the girl's school concerning absent teachers. Received and filed.

From Miss Richard and Mr. Dougan, applying for positions on the teaching staff. Laid on the table.

Mr. Heisterman observed that the granting of temporary certificates was unjust and the law should be changed.

The attendance at the schools on Tuesday was reported to be 1016, as against 919 on the day of the opening. At the Central school there had been an increase of 69 during this time.

GENERAL BUSINESS.

Bills amounting to $9.75 were read and ordered to be paid. Bills referred to a finance committee.

The secretary recommended the payment of an additional sum of $5 to each of the janitors, Johnson street and James Bay ward schools on payment of extra services. Recommendation adopted.

On motion of Mr. Heisterman a finance committee was appointed by the chairman composed of Secretary Wolfenden and Messrs. Heisterman and Ferguson.

TEMPORARY CERTIFICATES.

Moved by Mr. Heisterman, seconded by Dr. Morrison, that the educational department be requested to secure a change of clause 10 of the school act granting temporary certificates to teachers so as to read "that such certificates shall only be granted in cases of sickness."

Mr. Ferguson did not know that the board had any right to interfere with matters of this kind. He was decidedly opposed to temporary certificates because he considered first of all that a teacher should be able to show that he thoroughly understood that which he was expected to teach. He should like to know if there were any teachers employed by this board holding temporary certificates.

Sec. Wolfenden—There are none.

Mr. Ferguson—Then I think we would be meddling with a matter that we have no right to. If other boards choose to employ non-certified teachers, I of course think they are pursuing a very foolish policy, because all other things being equal I would always give the preference to the holder of the highest certificate.

Chairman Hayward—I don't think this board would be acting consistently if it passed this resolution because we brought considerable pressure to bear on the educational department last year to have certain temporary certificates granted.

Mr. Wolfenden—I would ask the mover of the resolution to withdraw it.

Chairman Hayward—Yes, this will make the board the laughing stock of the educational department.

Mr. Heisterman—What I wish to prevent is the abuses which this temporary certificate matter may lead to in future.

Mr. Ferguson—You may be sure we would get a snub from the educational department.

Mr. Wolfenden—I don't think we should pass this resolution, especially after the very short time that has elapsed since we asked to have temporary certificates granted.

Chairman Hayward to the mover—Will you withdraw the resolution?

Mr. Heisterman—I don't think it would hurt to pass it.

Mr. Chairman—Very well; all in favor say "aye." Ayes—Heisterman and Morrison. Noes—Ferguson and Wolfenden.

Chairman Hayward—Then I decide against it most decidedly.

A TEACHER'S CONDUCT.

Mr. Ferguson—I think there is a resolution which provides that all charges against teachers shall be investigated in secret session. I have some information to lay before the board concerning the conduct of one of the teachers which I think is unbecoming a teacher.

Mr. Chairman—As it would be but a preliminary consideration I think it had better be done with closed doors.

A HIGH SCHOOL FEE.

Dr. Morrison—I move that all non-resident pupils attending the high school be charged a fee of $5.

Messrs. Ferguson and Heisterman opposed the motion and it was laid over.

THE CIRCUS.

Chairman Hayward—When visiting the school to-day my attention was forcibly drawn to the fact that the circus would be parading the streets in the morning and the children would very much like to have a half holiday.

It was decided to give the city schools a half holiday for the purpose of enabling the children to obtain an object lesson in natural history.

Meeting adjourned.

VOLCANIC ERUPTIONS IN JAPAN

Five Hundred Lives Lost and Villages Destroyed.

San Francisco, Aug. 12—The steamer City of Sydney brings particulars of the volcanic eruption of Bandai-San on the 15th of July. The Choya Shumbun dispatched a special reporter to the scene. According to his account villagers around Banda-San heard strange rumbling sounds, and felt shocks of earthquake from the 13th. These phenomena continued intermittingly for two days and nights, but not being attended by any serious result, no great disquietude was felt.

On the morning of the 15th, about 8 o'clock, the smaller Banda San trembled and roared as though a hundred thunderstorms were combined; almost immediately afterwards ashes began to fall, the sky suddenly grew dark, and the rumbling sounds continued, accompanied by violent earthquakes and a flare of dazzling flame. The crest of the smaller Banda-San appeared to be lifted bodily upwards, and then to fall again with a tremendous noise. Then followed showers of red mud, mingled with large stones, spreading havoc around. Such was the nature of nearly all the matter erupted, red mud without a small stone, but accompanied occasionally by heavy rocks. Above the mud fell a few inches of ashes.

In five villages—Iwase, Yozan, Wakamiya, Misato and Hibara—the greater part of the houses were buried to a depth of from seven to twenty feet.

The state of the bodies recovered is terrible. Some are literally cut to pieces, others are parboiled, so that it is scarcely possible to distinguish between men and women. A few corpses were found suspended in the branches of trees, which had caught them as they fell.

A telegram to the home department, dated July 25th, states: The total number of population damaged by the late catastrophe, either directly or indirectly, is 2447, of whom 763 are direct sufferers, and over 1970 are indirectly injured and are unable to provide for themselves. Of 760 direct sufferers twelve are now supported by Kencho, and over 700 are soon to be provided for. A large portion of the land damaged was as uncultivated region.

An occasional correspondent write from Aizu to Mainichi Shimbun as follows: "Proceeding about six miles up the mountain we rested and we met four wounded persons. One had been hit on the head by a stone, and it was impossible to stop his bleeding to death, and another had a hand broken. Their backs were burned and blackened by sulphur, and pieces of stone remained in the wounds. From these persons we learned the number of visitors to the hot springs resorts on Banda-San to have been 250, of whom they said only four escaped death. Of those who perished some had both hands and feet cut off, or their bowels protruding, while others were lying under huts or were buried by sand and ashes till the corpses presented a dark color, as if they had been scorched by gunpowder. We tried to approach the crater from which the eruption emanated, but the earth all around was so burnt and the sulphur smell so strong and obnoxious that we could not get near the place."

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the throat and lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of tubercle germs into the system and when these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the head, causing catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your throat, lungs or nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief. *

Kisses.

A prominent physician calls the kiss "an elegant disseminator of disease." He says, "fever is spread by it, so are lung diseases." He maintains that if the kissing custom were driven out of the land "it would save one-tenth of one per cent. of human lives," which are now sacrificed. Out upon the guarled and sapless vagabond! Evidently kisses are not for such as he and the old fox says, the grapes are sour. Let him devote himself to making our women healthy and blooming that kisses may be kisses. This can surely be done by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription which is magical in its effects, upon all diseases peculiar to females. In Prospects.

An interesting event will take place at the Pandora street Methodist Church on Wednesday evening, Aug. 22nd. On that evening two young hearts will be joined. The principals live within one thousand miles of the Work estate.

Election of Officers.

St. Joseph Social and Literary society elected the following officers last night: D. F. Fee, president; F. Bere, vice-president; J. T. Fee, financial secretary; T. J. Barnes, treasurer; T. Baker, D. McPhee and Sergt. Mellon, managing committee; L. Leslouis, steward.

Victoria Not Behind.

All those who have traveled on the European continent are familiar with the Hackerbian beer. It is kept in all first-class cafees in Berlin, Paris and Vienna. Our host, Mr. Sauer, of the Bank Exchange, received his first shipment of this renowned beverage last week; and in the future it will always be kept at the Bank Exchange.

Northern Canneries.

Advices from the north, via the Boscowitz and Sardonyx, show that the salmon catch on the northern coast has been an extremely successful one. On the Skeena and Naas the canneries are closed for the season, with full packs. The Rivers Inlet Canning Co. has 10,500 cases to date, and Cowan, Shaw & Co., 8,000 cases to date. Both are still fishing. At Alert Bay 3,200 cases have been put up.

A Human Aquarium.

The following despatch from Norfolk, Virginia, will be interesting to those who turn themselves into aequariums by drinking Elk lake water unfiltered and unstrained. "Nancy Kalling, a colored woman living here who has been sick for some months, has just vomited a living frog nearly as long as a finger and almost white from its long deprivation of light. It is supposed that some time ago the woman swallowed a tadpole."

Deaths.

Mrs. W. Leigh, relict of the late William Leigh, for many years city clerk, died this morning at her residence, James Bay.

John Gilbert, an old English pensioner, who was familiarly known as "White Pine," was found dead this morning. He was a harmless old fellow who was more of an injury to himself than he was to others. Poor old Happy Jack has fought his last fight. He was a member of the famous Light Brigade.

Departure of the Fly.

The steamer Cariboo Fly, which was detained for one day owing to slipping when on the ways, left this forenoon at 11 o'clock for the Skeena and intermediate points, with a full list of passengers and a large quantity of freight. Among the passengers were Mrs. Spencer and Miss Hunt, of Alert Bay, a number of men for Sayward's logging camp on Valdez Island, and others. The Fly will call at Texada Island with supplies and men for the mine. She will bring back the officers and men of C Battery, having been chartered by the government for that purpose.

Mr. Colby Heard From.

Colby, the spiritualistic medium, whose name by some means was mixed up with train robbers, was seen by a reporter in San Francisco the other day. He said: "If the officers come they will find me here, ready to answer all charges made against me. I have affidavits explaining my whereabouts since 1870." Colby concluded by saying that he would prosecute to the fullest excent of the law the originators of the story against his good name. He has retained ex-Congressman Henley of San Francisco to take charge of the matter for him.

The Hungarian Orchestra.

The combination of Hungarian Musicians which appear here next week will prove to be one of the greatest attractions of the season. The Hungarians are noted as the most musical people in the world—not in the general acception of the term—not in the exactness of time, or the set modern music, confined to rules bars, spaces and rests, but to that grand, though uncultivated harmony known as natural music. The orchestra will appear at the Victoria, giving several entertainments, and lovers of music should hear them.

Seducing a Girl.

The Nanaimo Free Press says: On Sunday a man named Miliard L. Cantrell, accompanied by a prepossessing looking young girl named Clara C. Low, arrived by the train and took rooms at the Central Hotel as man and wife. Cantrell, who is a blacksmith by trade, obtained work at the V. C. Co. on Monday. Everything went merry as a marriage bell till the train arrived yesterday, bringing the mother and stepfather of the young girl. The parents brought up a warrant signed by Thos. Shotbolt, of Victoria, for the arrest of Cantrell on a charge of seducing their daughter Clara G. Low, who will not be 16 years of age till December next. Cantrell was arrested. He is said to be a married man aged 35 years, and left his wife and children in Washington Territory. The step-father's name is Albert Anthony Benard, and he resides at Ellensburg, Kittatas County, W. T.

Cantrell and the young girl, it will be remembered arrived here from Seattle some two or three weeks ago, when THE TIMES published some of his doings.

OUR TOWN MAJOR.

The Y. M. C. A.—Brutality to Brutes—The Library, etc.

Bravo, Chudley, go it, let the doctors have it straight out from the shoulder, is the advice of The Major. You're like the Irishman who said he was quiet till he was roused. Now don't spare any one, and see that this unseemly belching forth of windy words is brought to an end as far as the Jubilee Hospital is concerned.

The Major forgot yesterday to offer his congratulations to the fair ladies who aided in the entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. rooms Monday evening, and his especial thanks to the beauteous young damsel who so plentifully supplied him with cake. He does not care much for the male individual who persuaded him to partake of the ice cream—an uneasy night was the consequence—but the cake! Well, it's no wonder Adam was tempted by our first mother, if she was anything like the nymphs of the Y. M. C. Association rooms. One temptation—why even The Major would be tempted a thousand times. Ladies, keep on at the good work, and you'll not only have the young but also the old men patronizing the rooms. Your influence for thus doing good is all powerful. Use it.

So another scandal as to the administration of the law has been brought to light by THE TIMES city reporter. The Major happened to meet him yesterday. They talked of the horse brutality of a few days ago; went and saw and heard. Now, reporters, as a general rule, are given to drawing a long bow. It has not been done in this instance; in fact it has been curtailed. Why were not the perpetrators brought to justice? Here, you very reverend gentlemen of James Bay, is a case for you to try your humanity on. Be the Henry Bergh, of Victoria, but to obtain your information as to cruelty to animals or the exposing of criminals, you must look in the columns of THE TIMES. The other papers are misleading. Now, the great moral sheet is silent on this flagrant breach of police duty; so they are about another celebrated case. It is a pretty state of affairs when opium smuggling agents and tools can commit with impunity outrages in the midst of a people supposed to be not only civilized, but Christianized. There are doubts on this head. Our law don't act—our great moral sheet is silent. No wonder the Rev. Mr. McLeod cautioned the newly inducted secretary of the Y. M. C. A. against the press of Victoria. Yet it is to the great power of the fourth estate we owe many reforms. In other countries the pulpit upholds the press; here in Victoria it is different. No wonder.

The gorgeous parade of the circus this afternoon is surely sufficient to fill the vacuum of excitement in any ordinary Victorian. Excitement you must have, so take your fill of it while you can. A good laugh, the excitement of the daring feats of the ring, and the instructive specimens of natural history in the menagarie, will do good to young and old alike. The jokes of the clowns may be a little stale, they sometimes are, but they are no staler than the played out chestnuts served out by the great moral morning daily and its evening echo. The latter is the best selected compilation of clippings; and would make a first class scrapbook.

It is hoped the City Council will go to the circus and have a good look at the elephants. If they would only let these sagacious animals just have a free hoedown along Broad street, Johnson street and Store street, with a hint to play skittles with the old shanties, there would be no need for any further complaint on this head. Many instructive lessons are to be learned from a circus, and the sayings of a clown in circus or pantomine has ere now been the means of reforming abuses. Go and profit by them.

Has the police summoned the Mayor and Corporation for allowing thistles to grow on the city property at the Douglas street fountain. If not, why? It will be seen that such a flagrant breach of duty won't be permitted to pass unnoticed with impunity by

THE TOWN MAJOR.

MENZIES AND CRAWFORD.

Remanded Until Friday on a Second Charge.

The "Professor" was before the Magistrate this morning on a charge of taking Ah Lin to the house of Ah Chee for illicit purposes. Mrs. Crawford did not appear.

Mr. Walls said Mr. Mason, of Messrs. Eberts & Taylor's office, wished to withdraw this charge and so informed Menzies' counsel.

Supt. Bloomfield—I am instructed to ask for an adjournment until Friday.

Mr. Walls—I was told by Mr. Mason, representing the city barristers, that the trial will not go on; the second charge has been withdrawn.

Supt. Bloomfield—I received instructions this morning and Mr. Taylor is not in the city. Mr. Eberts is unwell.

Mr. Walls—Who laid this information.

Sergt. Sheppard—I did.

Mr. Walls—Who instructed you?

Superintendent—I object to that question. I requested the Mayor to obtain the city barrister to prosecute.

Mr. Walls—I saw Mrs. Crawford yesterday and told her that it was not necessary for her to appear because the prosecution was withdrawn.

His Honor—Why is the adjournment asked for?

Supt.—Because the Attorney-General wishes to see into the law. Under the Speedy Trials Act a man cannot be brought up under two indictments without a jury.

Mr. Walls—I consider that my clients should be dismissed; but if they are needed on Friday I will see that they appear.

His Honor—I will adjourn the case until Friday.

Menzies was then escorted back to the Provincial Gaol.

THE SARDONYX

Arrives This Morning—The Specials on Board.

The Sardonyx, Capt. Adam, arrived at the outer wharf this morning at 6 a. m., seventy-two hours from the Skeena. She brought Superintendent Roycraft and the special officers, and six first class and four deck passengers. The freight consisted of 12,000 cases of salmon from Port Essington.

Constable Green, who shot Kit-wan-cool Jim returned on the Boscowitz. He is out on his own recognizance pending the action of the Attorney General.

The officers and men of C Battery were all in high spirits. They were still in camp near Port Essington, and will return on the Cariboo Fly in about twelve or thirteen days. During their holiday they have been fishing and hunting and will have a boat load of trophies to show to their friends when they come down.

The salmon freight consisted of 5000 cases of salmon from the British American Packing Company, 4820 cases from the Inverness cannery, 868 cases from the Balmoral cannery, and 1650 cases from Cunningham's cannery.

HENDRY VS. THE CITY.

Verdict for Plaintiff for $750, Full Amount of Claim.

In the Supreme Court yesterday, before Mr. Justice Gray, and a special jury (Mr. T. Earle, foreman) the case of Hendry vs. the Corporation was heard. This was an action for the sum of $750, the amount of six months satary, alleged by the plaintiff to be due to him in lieu of six months' notice of dismissal. The plaintiff, it appeared, had been in the employ of the Corporation for several years past as Superintendent and Engineer of the City Water Works; and had been appointed by a special by-law, one of the terms of which was that he should before dismissal be entitled to six months' notice of the same. In March last he received a notification that his services would not be required after the end of the following month, no cause of complaint being conveyed to him for such action.

Mr. Fell opened the case to the jury and stated that the facts contained in the plaintiff's Statement of Reply were admitted by the defendants, they having neglected to join issue upon them.

Mr. Davie urged that the Court had power to allow amendments to the Record any time.

His Lordship allowed the defendants to place their Joinder of Issue upon the Record, subject to plaintiff's right to move to set the whole trial aside if he was wrong.

Mr. Fell then called the plaintiff, Mr. A. J. Smith, and the City Clerk as witnesses.

Upon the case being closed for the plaintiff Mr. Davie moved for a nonsuit on the grounds, firstly, that so much of the bylaw as provided for six months' notice of dismissal, which was ultra vires as not being warranted by the Municipality Acts or the Water Works Statute which it was claimed gave merely the right to appoint and fix the amount of salary; secondly, that the provision was unreasonable and void for want of mutuality, the Corporation being bound to give the notice, without any corresponding obligation being imposed on Mr. Hendry, and thirdly, that the right to six months' notice was taken away by the Municipality Act, 1881, which enacts that any officer of the Corporation may be discharged upon thirty days' notice, which in this case had been given.

Mr. Fell replied that the plaintiff was not appointed by the Council under the power conferred upon them by the Municipality Acts, but under the powers given the Council by the Water Works Act, section 5, which last Act gave them power to appoint engineers to assist the Water Commissioner in carrying out his duties; that the bylaw was not general but a personal one, a contract whereby the Council agreed that if the plaintiff would give up a valuable position and enter their employ they would not discharge him without giving him six months notice. The by-law therefore was reasonable and a perfectly business-like transaction; that if the by-law was bad the defendants had not pleaded it, and they could not take advantage of their own wrong and stultify their own acts.

His Lordship said he should reserve the points taken, for future consideration, but at present, for the purpose of this trial, should direct the jury that the by-law was enforcible, and to find whether a contract existed between the parties for six months' notice; if so, had there been a breach of the contract, and to what amount of damages is the plaintiff entitled for such breach?

The jury, after an absence of twenty minutes, answered the questions submitted in the affirmative, finding a general verdict for plaintiff in the amount claimed, $750.

Judgment was reserved for the purpose of having the legal points argued.

Mr. Thornton Fell appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. Theodore Davie, instructed by D. M. Eberts, Esq., for the defendant.

The Ottawa Team.

It is to be hoped any effort to send a team to Ottawa again this year will meet with a liberal response. It will look exceedingly slow of B. C. if she is not represented at the Canadian Wimbledon like the other provinces; besides there is a more important consideration. If the province is to receive the attention from the militia department that we wish it to be shown that the people here take an interest in militia matters. Just now when fortifications and garrisons are being sought after the interest must be kept up.
